LOCAL GATHERINGS

In connection with the sale of the Cross bakery last week it is interesting to note that with the sale of the St. Johnsbury plant the Cross family goes out of the bakery business after almost 90 years success in it. G. H. Cross, father of L. B. Cross and George Cross, began the manufacture of the famous Cross crackers in 1828. L. B. Cross succeeded his father in Montpelier, building up the large business which is now managed by former employees of Mr. Cross. George H. Cross and his son, Harry Cross, built up an equally large plant here.

The St. Johnsbury Woman's club has filed articles of association with the secretary of state, and the Clubhouse association of the same club. The purpose of the organization is to own and hold real estate and to erect buildings. The capital stock is $10,000, divided into 1,000 shares at $10 each. Twelve St. Johnsbury women are the signers.

The stores will be open until noon on July Fourth and then will close for the rest of the day.

At the annual meeting of the Round Table of the South church these officers were elected: President, Rev. Edward T. Fairbanks; vice president, Ernest H. Cowles; secretary, Vernon B. Tiehurst; treasurer, George G. Newell.

Caledonia Lodge, I. O. O. F., will keep open house July 4th and the Odd Fellows and Rebekahs and their families are invited to make that their headquarters.

The village is maintaining a policeman at the corner of Eastern Avenue and Railroad street to prevent any accident by the meeting of teams and automobiles, and the authorities still request that he be assisted as much as possible by the drivers of either team or automobile as it is a dangerous corner now that bridesmaids was a cousin of the bride, her of autos passing through the village is so much increased.

RECENT WEDDINGS.

Spears-Hyde.

A very pretty wedding in which the contracting parties were Miss Mary Florence Hyde, elder daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Goodrich, and Sevea Spears of Boston occurred last evening at the home of the bride on Clinton Avenue. The house was very attractively decorated in green and pink and white, trailing evergreen, asparagus fern, daisies, pink peonies and roses being used. The banister was wound with evergreen, asparagus fern, and daisies, in the parlor an arch of evergreen, daisies and roses, under which the ceremony was performed, and asparagus fern ropes extended from the electrolite to the bay window; in the library there were pink peonies and pink roses. The guests, of which there were about 125 present, were received at the door by Miss Bertha Silsby and were shown to the dressing room by Miss Dorothea Clark. The ushers were Dr. Willis B. Fitch and William A. Peck of Boston. To the strains of Mendelssohn's wedding march played by Miss Louise B. Tyler at the piano and Miss Margarette Tyler, violinist, the wedding party descended the stairs, preceded by the ushers, and entered the parlor through an aisle formed of pink ribbons. Then came the bridesmaids, Misses Ethel M. Spears, the groom's sister of Lynn, Mass., and Helen C. Stevens, the maid of honor, the bride's sister, Miss Gertrude Hyde; and Mr. Goodrich and the bride. They were met in the parlor by the groom and his best man, his brother, Alden Spears of Honolulu, and the double ring ceremony was performed by the bride's pastor, Rev. George W. C. Hill, D. D., the bride being given in marriage by her father. The bride's gown was of ivory white embroidered chiffon cloth over white satin, and she wore a very caught with orange tulle and carried a shiver bouquet of lilacs of the valley. The maid of honor wore pink chiffon over pink silk, trimmed with embroidery and carried pink Killarney roses. Both bridesmaids wore white embroidered voile and also carried pink Killarney roses. Following the ceremony, Miss Louise and Margarette Tyler played the wedding march from Lohengrin, congratulations were offered, Mr. and Mrs. Goodrich receiving with the bride and groom, and refreshments of cake and ice cream were served by Misses Mabel Spencer, Maudie Kent, Gertrude E. Franklin, Louise B. Tyler, Margarette Tyler, Ruth Tyler, Mildred Foster, Mary J. Nelson Josephine E. Peck, Marion Stanley and Mrs. W. Edmund Blodgett. The punch bowl in the dining room was presided over by Misses Margaret Clark and Mathilde Foster.

The bride was for some time employed as bookkeeper in the office of the Berry-Clark Dry Goods Co., and for the past three years has been employed as bookkeeper by the Blakeley Printing Co., at Chicago. Mr. Spears is traveling for the firm of Brown-Durrell Co., of Boston, and both have a host of friends in this town and elsewhere. The bride was the recipient of an abundance of exquisite wedding gifts of china, cut glass, silver, linen, embroidered pieces and pictures.

Relatives from away who attended the wedding were Mrs. D. J. Foster and two daughters, Mildred and Mathilde, of Washington, D. C., Misses Cora, Inez and Ethel Spears of Lynn, Mass., sisters of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. Warren W. Hartwell of South N. H., Mr. and Mrs. R. Corwin of Somerville, Mass., and Miss Flora M. Winch of Melrose.

Bennett-Lyster. A quiet home wedding took place at the home of the bride in Waterford Thursday afternoon, when Miss Fannie Isabel, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Lyster, was united in marriage to Herbert Bennett, the ceremony being performed by Rev. A. B. Enright of Danville, before a few near relatives. The bridesmaid was a cousin of the bride, Miss Jane A. Silsby of Claremont, N. H., and the best man was the bride's brother, Merton E. Lyster. The bride wore a white muslin dress and carried a shower bouquet of pink peonies and maiden hair ferns, and the bridesmaid also wore white muslin. The room was prettily decorated with evergreen, daisies and peonies. Mr. and Mrs. Bennett returned from their wedding trip Saturday afternoon and were given a very pleasant reception at the home of her parents Saturday evening, when about 75 relatives and friends were present. The guests were presented to the bride and groom by Merton E. Lyster and congratulations were offered. The evening ice cream and cake were served by Misses Hazel and Mildred Lyster and Mabel Miles. Punch was served by Misses Bertha Daniels and Irene Ellis. The bride was the recipient of many beautiful gifts, including a piano and a check for $100 from her father. Mr. Bennett is employed at Danville and Mrs. Bennett will remain at her father's. For the present, and later they expect to locate in St. Johnsbury. Among the guests present were Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Lyster of Littleton, Mrs. Geo. Garvin and daughter Candace of Danville, Mr. and Mrs. Will Ranney and daughter Marjorie from Concord, Mr. and Mrs. Chester Clark and two children from Peacham, Mrs. H. F. Colby, Mr. and Mrs. Guy P. Metcalf, Lewis W. Fisher, Dr. and Mrs. R. McSweeney and Ashley Bean and family of St. Johnsbury.

Wakeman-Parker. At high noon, Thursday, June 22, a pretty wedding occurred at the home of J. E. Parker, when his daughter, Mabel Alice, became the wife of Roy Bailey Wakeman. The officiating clergyman was the Rev. Ralph F. Lowe, D. D. To the music of the wedding march played by Mrs.

Ralph Parker, the wedding party entered the tastefully decorated parlor, passed through an aisle formed by daisy chains held by Berta Parker, Rolla Wakeman, Marguerite Esdon, and Leigh Wakeman, and took their stand before a bank of ferns and daisies. The ritual of the Methodist Episcopal church was used, and at the proper point in the service, the little niece of the bride, Ossi Baker, presented the ring which she had carried in a basket of ferns and daisies. The bride was attractively gowned in pale green silk with trimming of applique and lace. After the relatives who were present had offered good wishes and congratulations, everyone went out into the beautiful old orchard where caterer O. H. Smith served a delicious wedding breakfast. Out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Wakeman and children of Barton; Mr. and Mrs. Carl Gognon of San Diego, Cal.; Mr. and Mrs. Frank McGill and Miss Marguerite Esdon of Passumpsic, and Miss A. Louise Lewis of St. Albans. The bride was the recipient of many lovely presents of silver, glass, china, and linen. Mr. Wakeman is engaged in market gardening at Brookside Place, St. Johnsbury, where the newly wedded couple will be at home after July first.

Woodward-Owen. A quiet wedding at which the contracting parties and attendants were the only ones present, took place at the bride's home Wednesday evening at 8.30, when George Edward Woodward and Mrs. Len M. Owen were united in marriage by Rev. George W. C. Hill. The bride wore a gown of champagne colored messaline and carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations, and she was attended by Mrs. Frank E. Blossom who wore a gown of pink and white. The bride is the efficient secretary and treasurer of the Citizens Telephone Co., and the groom has for a number of years been in the employ of the George H. Cross Co., in which position he has been very popular. On their return from a short wedding trip they will reside at 94 Railroad street.

Morrison-Harvey. The following account of the marriage of a St. Johnsbury boy is taken from the Barre Times: A pretty wedding was solemnized at six o'clock Tuesday evening, June 20, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Harvey, on the East Montpelier road, when their daughter, Mary Florence Harvey, was united in marriage to William G. Morrison of St. Johnsbury, Rev. Edward C. Downey, pastor of the Universalist church performing the ceremony and the single ring service being used. Only the immediate families were present, the ceremony being followed by a supper which followed immediately after. The bride was prettily gowned in white messaline, trimmed with insertion and lace. The couple were unattended. The day was also the wedding anniversary of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey, who were married at the same place in 1880. The bride's traveling suit was dark blue with pretty hat to match.

Ord-Perley. The marriage of George A. Ord and Mrs. Emma Babcock Perley took place at her home, 15 Caledonia street, Wednesday afternoon at half past one o'clock, Rev. B. F. Butler officiating. It was a very quiet wedding, only a few of their relatives being present. The bride was attired in her traveling dress of blue serge, and carried a bouquet of bride roses. They were unattended. Mr. and Mrs. Ord will reside on his farm near this village for the present.

Peterson-Hissip. The marriage of Earl Peterson, son of Rev. C. J. Peterson of Montgomery Center, and Miss Bessie Hissip of Clareville, P. Q., took place at Clareville, Wednesday evening at eight o'clock. It was a large church wedding and the bride was the recipient of many beautiful gifts. Kendall.

The death of Mrs. Maria A. Kendall which occurred at her home on Pearl street last week Monday night came as a surprise to her friends and relatives as she was ill so short a time. She was the daughter of Jonathan and Abigail (Chapman) Poland and was born in Fairfield, July 8, 1828. She was twice married, her first husband being Josiah Gage, who died a number of years ago leaving two children, Mrs. Clarence W. Plummer of Lakeport, N. H., and Josiah B. Gage of Olean, N. Y. Her second husband, Larnard L. Kendall, died in 1888, leaving one son, Col. Frank L. Kendall of Rochester, N. H. She also leaves one grandson, Kenneth Russell Kendall, and two brothers, Ezra Poland, who made his home with his sister, and Orrin Poland of Connecticut. Col. and Mrs. Kendall and son, and Mr. and Mrs. Plummer came here for a visit and were with their mother at her death, and Mr. and Mrs. Gage left their home as soon as they learned of her illness, but did not reach here until Tuesday night. Mrs. Kendall was a member of Grace Methodist church, and a former pastor, Rev. J. M. Frost of Waterville, Me., came to attend her funeral which was held Thursday afternoon at her home.

Gibson.

Ezra Arthur Gibson died Tuesday, June 13, at his home five miles northeast of St. Joseph, Mo., after an illness of one week. Mr. Gibson was born in Ryegate, May 12, 1859, and lived in Vermont until March, 1910, when he moved to St. Joseph, Mo. The early part of his life was spent on a farm in Barre; for five years he was butter-maker at Barre creamery and 10 years at Derby. About six years ago he moved to St. Johnsbury and was shipping clerk for the St. Johnsbury Grocery Co. In 1880 he married Miss Ella Smiley of Danville, who survives him with one daughter, Mrs. W. S. Kelley, of St. Joseph, Mo. Three brothers, Joseph, of Kallapell, Montana, William, of Barre, James, of Brattleboro, and three sisters, Mrs. Wilbur Nelson, Winchendon, Mass., and Henry of this place, survive her. The funeral was held at the house Sunday afternoon and was largely attended. Rev. Robert I. Ilman officiating.
